NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A Freſh Parcel of Dr. KEYSER's famous PILLS, may be had of CHARLES CROUCH, at his Printing-Office in Elliott-ſtreet; and he really believes (without forcible making Uſe of the Word "PERHAPS") they are the only REAL ONES that can be had in the Province at preſent; notwithſtanding it is aſſerted (with a Degree of Scurrility) to the Contrary, in the latter Part of the Introduction to an Advertiſement for the Sale of Keyſer's Pills, by Powell, Hughes, & Co. in a Gazette of the 23d Inſtant, ſaid to be printed by thoſe People. In Regard to the mean, raſcally Inſinuations againſt me, contained in ſaid Introduction, I am happy in knowing that they do not, nor cannot in the leaſt AFFECT me, eſpecially as coming from ſuch Hands; yet, I think it would have been much more to their Credit, to have endeavoured to convince the Public, in a Manner different from what they did, that my Surmiſe was wrong, reſpecting the Pills ſold by them. And as to my good or bad Qualities, they are ſubmitted to the Candour and Impartiality of the reſpectable Public, whoſe Favours I ſhall always make my chief Study to merit; without fearing the Malice or Baſeneſs of any Individual.

CHARLES CROUCH.

Charles-Town, July 14, 1772.

THE Subſcriber is much obliged to his Planting Friends, who, by landing their Crops at his Wharf for three Years paſt, have thereby introduced it to Buſineſs.---He acted as Factor during that Time, purely to prevent his Friends being Sufferers by their intended Kindneſs to him, as it was very induſtriouſly inſinuated, that Rice would not ſell at his Wharf. But as he is now well convinced, and flatters himſelf all his Friends are fully ſo too, that their Crops landed in large or ſmall Parcels, will ſell altogether as well at his Wharf, as at any other in Charles-Town; and that any Gentlemen, principally concerned in the Factorage Way, will now have no Objection to receive and ſell Rice or Indico landed thereat: He therefore chooſes to decline that Buſineſs, finding it more than he is able to go through. He hopes his good Friends will ſtill land their Crops at his Wharf, where they may depend he ſhall take Care HIMSELF that their Boats have all poſſible Diſpatch.

As to the Safety and Conveniency of his Docks and Stores, he is ſure there are none preferable to them in Town in thoſe Reſpects, and few (if any) Barns in the Country are cooler and more ſecure from Fire; and 'tis almoſt impoſſible for a Barrel of Rice to be loſt or ſtolen in Landing or Shipping at his Wharf. Such Gentlemen as uſe his Wharf conſtantly, may depend on never wanting Storage whenever they do not like the going Price.----No prudent Planter but muſt be convinced, that this is a Matter of the utmoſt Conſequence to him, as many, for theſe three Years paſt, have had their Crops (when landed in Town) diſpoſed of very much againſt their own Inclinations and Judgments, merely for Want of Storage; and this he is ſure has been the Caſe, particularly this Year ſeveral Times, notwithſtanding the Shortneſs of the Crop.

Meſſrs. GIBBES & HORT,

Who have had long Experience in the FACTORAGE BUSINESS in all its Branches, and confine themſelves to that only, have taken the Charge of his Scales, and will tranſact their Buſineſs on his Wharf.---To theſe Gentlemen he begs Leave to recommend ſuch of his Friends who are not otherwiſe engaged.

Chriſtopher Gadſden.

N. B. Any Gentlemen in Trade may depend on not wanting STORAGE for ſuch Parcels of Rice as they purchaſe at his Wharf.

A very extraordinary ANECDOTE relative to Sir WILLIAM WINDHAM.

SIR William Windham, when a very young man, had been out one day at a flag hunt, in returning from the sport, he found several of the servants at his father's gate, standing round a fortune-teller, who pretended, at least, to be deaf and dumb, and for a small gratification, wrote on the bottom of a trencher, with a bit of chalk, answers to such questions as the men and maids put to him by the same method. As Sir William rode by, the conjurer made signs that he was inclinable to tell his fortune, as well as the rest; and in good humour he would have complied, but not readily finding a question to ask, the conjurer took the trencher, and writing upon it, gave it back with these words very legible, "Beware of a white horse." Sir William smiled at the absurdity of the man, and thought no more of it for several years.

But in the year 1650, being on his travels in Italy, and accidentally at Venice, as he was passing one day through St. Mark's place in his calash, he observed a more than ordinary crowd at one corner of it. He desired his driver to stop, and they found it was occasioned by a mountebank, who also pretended to tell fortunes; conveying his several predictions to the people by means of a long narrow tube of tin, which he lengthened or curtailed at pleasure, as occasion required.

Among others, Sir William Windham held up a piece of money; upon which the sooth-sayer immediately directed the tube to his carriage, and said to him very distinctly, in Italian, Signior Inglese, Cavete il bianco Cavallo; which in English is, "Mr. Englishman, Beware of a white horse." Sir William immediately recollected what had been before told him, and took it for granted that the British fortune-teller had made his way over to the continent, where he had found his speech; and was curious to know the truth of it. However, upon inquiry, he was assured that the present fellow had never been out of Italy; nor did he understand any language, but his mother tongue. Sir William was surprised, and mentioned so whimsical a circumstance to several people. But in a short time this also went out of his head, like the former prediction of the same kind.

We need inform few of our readers of the share which Sir William Windham had in the transactions of government during the last four years of Queen Anne; in which a design to restore the son of James the Second to that throne which his father had so justly forfeited, was undoubtedly concerted; and on King George's arrival, punished, by forcing into banishment, or putting in prison, all the persons suspected to have entered into the combination; among the latter of these was Sir William Windham, who, in the year 1715, was committed prisoner to the Tower.

On the inner gate were the arms of Great-Britain, in which there was now some alteration to be made, in consequence of the succession of the house of Brunswick; and just as Sir William's chariot was passing through to carry him to his prison, the painter was at work, adding the White Horse, the arms of the Elector of Hanover. It struck Sir William forcibly; he immediately recollected the two singular predictions, and mentioned them to the Lieutenant of the Tower, then in the chariot with him, and to almost every one who came to see him in his confinement; and, though not superstitious, he always spoke of it as a prophecy fully accomplished. But here he was mistaken (if there is any thing prophetic in it) for many years after, being out a hunting, he had the misfortune of being thrown from his saddle in leaping a ditch, by which accident he broke his neck. He rode upon a White Horse.

ANECDOTE.

THE late Admiral Holbourne was not more distinguished as a brave and skilful commander than for the severity of his discipline, the roughness of his manners, and the peculiarity of his temper, which the following anecdote may serve to illustrate.

On being appointed in the late war to the command of the fleet stationed at Portsmouth, when he went down to attend his post for the first time, the youngest lieutenant on board the Royal Anne (the ship on which he was to hoist his flag) was appointed his day-officer, to receive his orders every morning. The lieutenant, having never seen the admiral, was going the first morning to attend him on shore, and in his way met him, dressed in an old brown coat, shabby hat, without a cockade, or any ensign of his rank or profession. The admiral accosted him with, Where the d---l are you a going? The young officer, eying him over, thought a contemptuous look was a sufficient reply, and walked on. Hark you, Sir, I say, d-n your blood, what business are you going about? Nettled at a repetition of such (apparently) insolent impertinence, the lieutenant returned, brandished his cane over the admiral's head, and swore that nothing but his age and contemptible appearance saved him from the chastisement his insolence deserved; and that, if he ever presumed to accost him in the same manner again, he would consider neither. Nothing more passed; they parted. The lieutenant pursued his walk, and the admiral his.

Upon enquiry at the admiral's house, he was informed he was out, but desired to sit down till his return, which was not many minutes afterwards. His situation may more easily be imagined than described on seeing the admiral in the person he had so lately encountered. The admiral perceived his embarrassment, avoided the least hint of the affair, entered into familiar converse with him, and afterwards testified his regard for him, by using his interest in getting him promoted to the command of a ship in the royal navy.

ANECDOTE.

AN assassin was hired to murder the great Duke of Orleans, and had succeeded so far as to enter the Duke's bed-chamber one morning early, pretending business of great moment from the Queen. As soon as the Duke cast his eyes on him, he spoke thus: I know thy business, friend; thou art sent to take away my life:---What hurt have I done thee? It is now in my power to have thee cut to pieces before my face: But I pardon thee: go thy way, and see my face no more.

The assassin, stung with his own guilt, and astonished at the excellent nature of this Prince, fell on his knees, confessed his design, and who employed him; and, having promised eternal gratitude for this Royal favour departed, without any other notice taken of him; but, fearing to tarry in France, entered himself into the service of the Spanish King. It was his fortune afterwards, to encounter the Duke of Orleans in a battle in Flanders. The Duke, at this instant, was oppressed by a body of Germans, and in the conflict lost his sword, which this gentleman perceiving, nimbly step'd to him, and delivered one into the Duke's hands, saying withal, Now, reap the fruit of thy former clemency. Thou gavest me my life; now I put thee in capacity to defend thy own. The Prince, by this means, escaped the danger, and the fortune of war turned on his side. After the battle, he made enquiry for his deliverer, and found him among the slain of his enemies.

A Method of flooding the Shock of a Cannon Ball without Danger.

PUT into the calibre a small quantity of powder, and ram it down with the wadding; place the ball next to the wadding; and let the remainder of the usual charge be lodged above the whole. Make a few trials of the quantity of powder, that must be placed under the ball, to be stopped by an inconsiderable obstacle; and you will soon learn how much powder you must use to be able to stop the ball with your hand, or any other part of your body.-----By this artifice many people have been as agreeably surprised as by any trick of legerdemain that ever has been exhibited.

A very whimsical ANECDOTE of the late Duke of NEWCASTLE.

AT the close of an election at Lewes, the late Duke of Newcastle was so delighted with the conduct of a calling voter, that he almost fell upon his neck and kissed him. "My dear friend, I love you dearly! You are the greatest man in the world! I long to serve you! what can I do for you?" "May it please your grace, an excise-man of this town is very old. I would beg leave to succeed him as soon as he shall die." "Ay, that you shall with all my heart. I wish, for your sake, he were dead and buried now! As soon as he is, set out to me, my dear friend! be it night or day, insist upon seeing me sleeping or waking. If I am not at Claremont, come to Lincoln's-Inn Fields; if I am not at Lincoln's-Inn Fields, come to court; if I am not at court, never rest till you find me; not the sanctum sanctorum, or any place shall be kept sacred from such a dear, worthy, good soul as you are. Nay, I'll give orders for you to be admitted, though the king and I were talking secrets together in the cabinet." The voter swallowed every thing with extasy; and, scraping down to the very ground, retired to wait in faith for the death of the excise-man. The former took his leave of this wicked world in the following winter. As soon as ever the Duke's friend was apprized of it, he set off for London, and reached Lincoln's-Inn Fields by about two o'clock in the morning. The King of Spain had, about this time, been seized by a disorder, which some of the English had been induced to believe, from particular expresses, he could not possibly survive. Amongst these, the noble Duke was the most credulous, and probably the most anxious. On the very first moment of receiving his intelligence, he had dispatched couriers to Madrid, who were commanded to return with unusual haste, as soon as ever the death of his Catholic Majesty should have been announced. Ignorant of the hour in which they might arrive, and impatient of the fate of every hour, the Duke would not retire to his rest till he had given the strictest orders to his attendants, to send any person to his chamber who should desire an admittance. When the voter asked if he was at home, he was answered by the porter, "Yes; his grace has been in bed some time, but we were directed to awaken him as soon as ever you came." "Ah, God bless him! I know that the Duke always told me I should be welcome by night or by day. Pray shew me up." The happy visitor was scarcely conducted to the door, when he rushed into the room, and, in the transport of his joy, cried out, "My Lord, he is dead." "That is well, my dear friend; I am glad of it, with all my soul. When did he die?" "The morning before last, and please your grace." "What, so lately? Why, my worthy good creature, you must have flown. The lightening itself could not travel half so fast as you. Tell me, you best of men, how shall I reward you?" "All I wish for in this world is, that your grace would please to remember your kind promise, and appoint me to succeed him." "You, you blockhead! You King of Spain! What family pretensions can you have? Let us look at you." By this time the astonished Duke threw back the curtains, and recollected the face of his electioneering friend; but it was seen with rage and disappointment. To have robbed him of his rest, might easily have been forgiven; but to have fed him with a groundless supposition that the King of Spain was dead, became a matter of resentment. He was, at first, dismissed with all the violence of anger and refusal. At length the victim of his passion became an object of his mirth; and, when he felt the ridicule that marked the incident, he raised the candidate for monarchy into a post, which, from the colour of the present times, may seem at least as honourable---he made him an excise-man.

CORSICAN ANECDOTE.

WHATSOEVER does honour to human-kind belongs to every nation. What Britain can refuse his applause to the following example?

Two grenadiers of the regiment of Flanders, in garrison at Ajaccio, deserted, and penetrating into the country, inland, sought shelter from pursuit. Chance had brought their Colonel, who happened to be out a hunting, into the track of the two grenadiers, who, seeing him, ran into a swamp among some bushes. A shepherd had observed them, and with his finger pointed out their hiding-place. The Colonel, who did not comprehend the sign he was making, asked him what he meant. The shepherd obstinately kept silence, but continued to direct him, with eyes and finger, to the bushes. At length, the people with him went to the place so pointed out, and discovered the heads of the deserters, who were up to the neck in the mud. These unfortunate men were instantly seized, carried to Ajaccio, tried by a court-martial, and condemned to be shot the next day. The sentence was executed. The shepherd to whom the Colonel had given a gratuity of four louisdores, could not for joy keep it secret, and divulged his adventure. The shepherd's own family heard of it, and shuddered with horror. All his relations assembled, and decided that that such a monster was not fit to live, as had dishonoured his country and family by receiving the price of the blood of two men, innocent, at least, as to him. They fought him out, seized him, and led him to just under the walls of Ajaccio. There, having provided him a priest to confess him, they shot him, without farther ceremony, much in the same manner, and about the same time, as the French had shot their two deserters. After the execution they put the four louisdores into the hands of the priest, whom they commissioned to return them to the Colonel. "Tell him, said they, we should think we polluted our hands and souls were we to keep these wages of iniquity. None of our nation will touch this money."

Extract of a Letter from the Countess of M--------n, now residing at Paris, to her friends in Scotland.

"A number of people of rank and fashion in this capital have been missing from time to time; some of them were found in the river, from which it was concluded that they had made away with themselves. However, one night as a gentleman was walking along the streets he was accosted, as he imagined, by a woman of the town: she conducted him to her lodgings; entering the outer door, she locked it, and put the key in her pocket; after which she led him through several entries, using the same ceremonies at each; arriving at last at her chamber, she left him on purpose to fetch some wine or other cordial; in her absence he began to reconnoitre the room, and, peeping into a closet, he discovered two dead men, which he supposed had been newly deprived of life. You may imagine what his feelings were on such an occasion; whatever they were, they did not bereave him of a notable presence of mind, which suggested to him the only expedient that, in all probability, could have saved him. At her return he told her, that he thought a small collation would be proper for him before he went to bed, for that he stood much in need of something to eat, and, if she pleased, he would go to a neighbouring tavern, and give orders concerning it: she opposed his going; he still insisted, and added, that she need not be afraid of his leaving her; to convince her that he had no such intention, he would let his watch and purse remain until his return; and, throwing them upon the table, she permitted him to walk off: he soon returned with a party of men, and, upon searching the house, two ruffians were found with arms hid in a large chest, who, being apprehended, and put to the torture, confessed that they had robbed and murdered all those that were missing; that the two who were found in the closet, were so lately murdered, that they had not time to conceal them; and that the gentleman who made the discovery would also have been made away with, if he had staid a few minutes longer in the house."

UNIVERSAL BENEVOLENCE
POETICALLY DISPLAYED.

WOULD Heav'n, to whom such mighty gifts belong,
Favour a Mortal with an Angel's tongue;
Could ev'ry speech the various Nations know,
Glide from my lips in one continued flow:
If CHARITY, of Graces first and best,
With generous warmth my bosom never bless'd,
The tinkling cymbal, or the sounding brass,
Would be the noisy types of what I was.
Could I the mysteries of Religion scan,
Or open all futurity to man;
Or did the beam of science in me shine,
Tho' ne'er so bright, enlivening, or divine:
Or could my Faith into the ocean roll
The rooted rocks, or shake the distant pole;
If CHARITY her virtues ne'er impart,
Vain all my pow'r, my knowledge, and my art.
Should I profusely waste my golden store,
To clothe the naked, and to feed the poor;
Nay, should I give my body to the flame,
And bear the honour of a Martyr's name:
If sacred CHARITY my breast disown,
Vain my compassion, suff'ring, and renown.
Fair CHARITY enjoys a patient mind,
Forever lovely, and forever kind:
Let others boast their riches, and their state,
She smiles, content---nor wishes to be great.
In her no proud, no empty looks are seen,
Mild are her words, becoming is her mien;
Chearful she sacrifices health and ease,
To raise the low, or give th' afflicted peace:
No wrath is ever known to change her brow;
Nor meditates she evil to her foe.
If wickedness in any shape appears,
Her melting eyes her sorrow speak in tears;
But when Religion spreads her happy sway,
She gives her sorrows and her tears away;
She hopes, she trusts, she suffers, she believes,
And chearfully the greatest wrongs receives.
Faith is intended for no stare but this,
And Hope e'er long shall be dissolv'd in bliss;
But CHARITY hereafter shall obtain
Divine honours, and an endless reign.

Extract from the MINUTES of COUNCIL for the Province of MASSACHUSETTS-BAY.

At a COUNCIL held at the Council-Chamber in Cambridge, June 13, 1772.

HIS Excellency acquainted the Board that he was reſtrained from removing the General Court to Boſton, whilſt the Aſſembly continued to diſpute the authority by which he was directed to cauſe it to be held in any place except Boſton: And laid before them the ſignification of his Majeſty's pleaſure made to him by one of his Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State, together with his ſpeech to the two houſes, and the ſeveral meſſages which had paſſed between him and them the preſent ſeſſion, and required the opinion and advice of the Council upon their oaths as counſellors, whether, conſiſtent with the ſignification of his Majeſty's pleaſure to him, he may now remove the Court to Boſton: The Council thereupon gave their opinion and advice unanimouſly in the affirmative.

A true copy, atteſt. THO. FLUCKER, Secr.

His Excellency then directed the Secretary to acquaint both Houſes reſpectively, that it was his pleaſure the Great and General Court be adjourned to Tueſday next, then to meet at the Court-Houſe in Boſton, which was done accordingly.

On his paſſage he had loſt his rudder, and was obliged to ſteer with a cable, and driſted into the gulf ſtream, and met with a continued ſeries of ſtorms and bad weather till his arrival at Halifax, which was 76 days.----The Captain and people underwent great hardſhips.-----He was relieved on the 1ſt of May by Captain Knight, from Salem to Newfoundland, with bread and water, and afterwards got a ſupply of fiſh from a fiſherman.

JUNE 22. Laſt week Captain Ebenezer Fuller arrived here from North-Carolina, and informs, That he was late Maſter of a ſchooner owned by John Simpſon, Eſq; of that place; but that on his paſſage thither from Jamaica, which he left the 29th of October, 1769, he met with contrary winds, and bad weather, which forced him to bear away for La Vera Cruz, in the Bay of Mexico, where he arrived the 25th of December following, being for ſeveral days before ſo reduced, for want of proviſion, that they were obliged to ſubſiſt on boiled molaſſes and ſugar: That the next day he, with his mate and ſix men, were by order of the Spaniſh Governor taken priſoners, and confined on board by a guard of 20 ſoldiers, without the leaſt cauſe given or committed by him, or any of his crew:---That on the 1ſt of January, 1770, the Governor, attended by the Cuſtom-Houſe Officers, came on board ſaid ſchooner, and threatened them with death, if they did not deliver up the keys of their cheſts, &c. which they robbed of all that was valuable, and then gave ſtrict charge to the ſoldiers to keep them under confinement, which was accordingly done until the 30th of October following, when the ſchooner ſunk by neglect, the worms having eat out her bottom; they were then carried on board a Spaniſh veſſel, and there confined till the 7th of January, 1772, at which time they were ordered to embark for the Havana, and arrived there the 2d of March following: At which place he ſaw Captain Peter Beard, of Jamaica, and about 50 Britiſh ſeamen, in cloſe confinement, with ſcarcely any covering on their backs; they told him their living was hard, having but half a bit a day allowed them to ſubſiſt on; and the only proviſion they could get was bullock's lights, and bad bread: On the 28th of March, Captain Fuller ſailed for North-Carolina, leaving Captain Beard and company in goal, in which ſome of them had been confined above 18 months: Captain Beard deſired he would publiſh his caſe in the papers, that the world might know how the ſubjects of Great-Britain are treated by thoſe of his Catholic Majeſty.

JUNE 29. We hear that the Honourable Board of Commiſſioners have appointed Capt. William Rhoades of this town, to be Gauger and Weigher for the port of Charles-Town, South-Carolina.

Wedneſday laſt being the feſtival of St. John the Baptiſt, the Moſt Worſhipful Joſeph Warren, Eſq; Provincial Grand Maſter of Ancient Free and Accepted Maſons, attended by his Grand Officers and the Maſter Wardens and Brethren of the Lodges under his juriſdiction, viz. St. Andrew's and Maſſachuſetts Lodges held in this town, the Tyrian Lodge held at Glouceſter, and St. Peter's Lodge held at Newbury Port, cloathed in the jewels and badges of their ſeveral offices, marched in proceſſion from Concert-Hall to Chriſt-Church, where a very ſuitable and pertinent diſcourſe was delivered by the Reverend Brother Fayerweather of Narraganſet, from 1ſt of Corinthians, 5th chap. 12 verſe, which was received with univerſal approbation by a numerous and polite audience. When the ſervice was ended, they proceeded to Maſon's-Hall, where an elegant entertainment was provided in the garden adjoining ſaid houſe under a large canopy erected for that purpoſe; and the remainder of the day was dedicated to purpoſes of benevolence and ſocial feſtivity. The unanimous thanks of the Lodges were voted to the Reverend Mr. Fayerweather, and a copy of his ſermon deſired for the preſs.----The thanks of the Lodges were alſo voted to the Rev. Dr. Byles, Rector, the Church-Wardens, Veſtry and Proprietors of Chriſt's Church for their polite behaviour in granting the free uſe of their church on the occaſion.

JULY 2. We hear the following alteration is to be made with reſpect to the army in America, viz. at Quebec 8th or King's regiment, and 21ſt, or Royal North Britiſh; at Montreal 26th; at Three Rivers and lower Poſts 52d; at Detroit and the upper Poſts 20th; at New-York two regiments of Fuzileers; and at Jamaica two battalions 60th, or Royal Americans.

The public may be aſſured upon the beſt authority, that the petition lately preſented to his Majeſty for an American Biſhop was rejected; it having been conſidered, in its true light, as the deſire of a few meddling prieſts, and not of the people.

JULY 6. We are aſſured, that the Honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives, by a majority of 85 out of 104 members, did the laſt week paſs a number of decent and manly reſolves, reſpecting the Governor's having and receiving a ſupport independent of the General Aſſembly; a copy of which we have not yet received.

We hear from Newport, Rhode-Iſland, that on the evening of the 26th of laſt month, a number of people in diſguiſe went on board a ſloop, lying in that harbour, which ſome time before arrived there from the Weſt-Indies with about 50 hogſheads of ſugar, which were entered for exportation, and after taking out the two waiters belonging to the Cuſtom-Houſe, and confining them on board an empty veſſel that lay near, took out the whole cargo; and the next morning attempted to go off with the veſſel alſo, but were overtaken by the Cuſtom-Houſe boat, and brought back again.

I have made ſome obſervations (ſays that warm and able advocate for the Rights of America, the Pennſylvania FARMER) on the purpoſes for which money is to be levied upon us by the late Act of Parliament---And unleſs I am greatly miſtaken, if theſe purpoſes are accompliſhed according to the expreſſed intention of the Act, they will be found EFFECTUALLY TO SUPERCEDE THE AUTHORITY IN OUR RESPECTIVE ASSEMBLIES, WHICH IS MOST ESSENTIAL TO LIBERTY. The queſtion is, not whether ſome branches ſhall be lopt off---- The ax is laid at the ROOT OF THE TREE, and the whole body muſt infallibly periſh, if we remain idle ſpectators of the work. ----No free people ever did or ever can exiſt, without keeping, to uſe a common but ſtrong expreſſion, "the purſe ſtrings" in their hands. Where this is the caſe, they have a conſtitutional check upon the Adminiſtration, which may thereby be brought into order without violence; "but when ſuch a power is not lodged in the people, oppreſſion proceeds uncontrouled in its career--The Engliſh Hiſtory, (ſays this admirable writer) abounds with inſtances, proving that this is the proper and ſucceſsful way to obtain redreſs of grievances----How often have KINGS and MINISTERS been brought to reaſon, and peaceably obliged to do juſtice, by the exertion of this conſtitutional authority of the people, veſted in ther Repreſentatives---The inhabitants of theſe colonies have on numberleſs occaſions, reaped the benefits of this authority, lodged in their aſſemblies."---"Is it poſſible, ſays he, to form an idea of ſlavery more compleat, more miſerable, more diſgraceful than that of a people when Juſtice is adminiſtered, Government exerciſed, and a ſtanding army maintained at the expence of the people, and yet without the leaſt dependance upon them?"---The ſyſtem of tyranny is already begun, in the independence of the Governors of this province and New-York---Our temper is to be tried in this way firſt; and if an infamous Adminiſtration finds that we bear it patiently, it requires not the ſpirit of prophecy to affirm, that the ſyſtem will ſoon---very ſoon be compleated---PRINCIPIIS OBSTA.

PROVIDENCE, (Rhode-Iſland) JUNE 13.

Monday laſt a ſloop from New-York arrived at Newport, and after reporting her cargo at the Cuſtom-Houſe, was proceeding up the river on Tueſday. The Gaſpee armed ſchooner, then lying near Newport, immediately gave chace to the ſloop, crowding all the ſail ſhe could make, but the people on board not being acquainted with the river, at three o'clock in the afternoon ſhe ran on Namquit Point, near Pawtuxet. About twelve at night a great number of people in boats boarded the ſchooner, bound the crew, and ſent them aſhore, after which they ſet fire to the veſſel, and deſtroyed her. A piſtol was diſcharged by the Captain of the ſchooner, and a muſket or piſtol from one of the boats, by which the Captain was wounded, the ball paſſing through one of his arms, and lodging in the lower part of his belly. He was immediately taken to Pawtuxet, and we are told is in a fair way to recover.

We hear that one Dagget, belonging to the Vineyard, who had ſerved the before mentioned ſchooner as pilot, but at the time of her being deſtroyed was on board the Beaver ſloop of war, going aſhore a few days ſince at Narraganſet to a ſheep ſhearing, was ſeized by the company, who cut off his hair, and performed on him the operation of ſhearing in ſuch a manner, that his ears and noſe were in imminent danger.

JULY 4. Since our laſt Captain John Peck arrived here from the river Miſſiſippi, with whom came paſſenger Joſeph Naſh, Eſq; of this town. By him we learn, that ſince the concluſion of the peace the French and Spaniards had ſeduced ſeven nations of Indians from the Engliſh, by means of medals, colours, and other preſents, and ſettled them on the weſtern banks of the Miſſiſippi; but that John Thomas, Eſq; Deputy-Superintendant of Indian Affairs in that department, has lately arrived there, and from his former acquaintance with the Indians, and ſurpriſing influence he has over them, all the above nations have determined to return, and ſettle on the Engliſh ſide of the river.---The warlike nation of the Arkanſas have determined to join the Chickeſaws, Shawanceſe and Cherokees, in a war againſt the Kickapoos, for killing ſome Engliſh ſettlers on the Ohio and Miſſiſippi.

We further learn, that an unhappy diſpute having lately ariſen between the Superintendant and Mr. Harris, a merchant's clerk at Fort Bute, on the river, they both drew their ſwords, when Mr. Harris was killed on the ſpot, and the Superintendant ſlightly wounded. He immediately delivered himſelf up, and was to take his trial at Penſacola.

A few days before Captain Peck ſailed from New-Orleans, an Ordinance was publiſhed by the Governor of Louiſiana, by order of his Catholic Majeſty, prohibiting the introduction of all ſorts of foreign cotton ſtuffs, or other ſtuffs mixed with cotton, under the penalty of ſuch goods being confiſcated, and of twenty bits for every yard of ſuch goods that ſhall be ſeized.---The like prohibition, we learn, will take place throughout his Catholic Majeſty's dominions.

NEWPORT, (Rhode-Iſland) JUNE 15.

Yeſterday arrived the Brig Nancy, Captain Cockrum, in 26 days from the Mole, who informs that no veſſel can be entered there with flour and candles on board, till the Captain gives bond not to ſell any of thoſe articles.

JUNE 22. Laſt Tueſday James Bud, and Lemuel Guſtine, were apprehended and committed to goal in this town, on ſuſpicion of being concerned in counterfeiting and paſſing New-York and Jerſey paper money. About a week before, they, with ſome others, came from Nantucket in a ſloop, and anchored in Mackarel Cove, a little within our light houſe, where theſe two left her, and came to this town, and agreed with an engraver to cut them a plate for the eſcutcheon or border of a New-York Forty Shilling bill, for which purpoſe they cut out the printed part of the bill, and gave the engraver the other part, cut into three or four pieces. But before the engraver had quite finiſhed the plate, he accidentally ſaw a New-York bill, which Bud had paſſed to another man, by which he diſcovered the real buſineſs he was about, and immediately informed Judge Hazard of the ſame. After Bud and Guſtine were examined, the ſloop was brought into this harbour, and being ſearched, upwards of Fifty Pounds of York and Jerſey money was found, including a ſmall ſum Bud and Guſtine had about them. They confeſſed but little on the examination: But it might be eaſily perceived that one Willis, of Connecticut, one Smith of New-York, and a number of others, were concerned in this affair.

JULY 6. Yeſterday arrived here Captain William Bourk, late maſter of the brig Minerva, of this port, who was bound from the Bay of Honduras for Europe, who informs, that himſelf, and ſix more, viz. Captain James Davis, of the ſhip Marquis of Granby, Captain William Chambers, of the ſchooner Polly, of New-Providence, Richard Hayward, Benjamin Knox, John Nichol, and James Fiſher, went aſhore on the 12th of May, at Swan's Iſland, in one boat, to look for a good watering place, their veſſels being ſhort of water; but the wind and tide prevented the veſſels getting near in with the iſland that day, ſo they concluded to ſtay aſhore till next morning, in hopes they would get in with the iſland:---When morning came they could but juſt diſcern their veſſels, when they put off, and endeavoured to get on board; but ſoon after the wind and ſea roſe ſo high that their boat was almoſt filled, and they were obliged to keep before the wind, and could neither fetch the veſſels nor the iſland.----Next day, ſeeing nothing of the veſſels, they concluded to make the firſt land they could, and after being in the boat 3 days, without ſcarce any thing to eat, they reached Rattan. Benjamin Knox and Richard Hayward died in the boat, and Captain Davis and John Nichol died almoſt as ſoon as they landed.

NEW-LONDON, JUNE 5.

Laſt Thurſday night the houſe of Mr. Joſeph Way, of Cheſterfield Society, in this town, was ſtruck by Lightning, which came down the chimney, burſt open all the doors and windows in the houſe, ripped off the window caps, raiſed the chamber floor and roof, and removed one of the main poſts of the houſe ſeveral inches from it's place, burſt down the partitions, entered a bed room where a child lay in bed, and deſtroyed a caſe and a ſett of bottles therein, and killed a dog. Altho' a number of perſons were in the houſe, providentially none of them received any hurt.

NEW-HAVEN, (Connecticut) JULY 10.

Laſt Wedneſday evening, about half after nine o'clock, began here an extraordinary appearance of the Aurora Borealis, or Northern Light, which ended with the morning Twilight; while it continued it was, for the moſt part, of an uniform luſtre, but there were ſome intervals when it almoſt diſappeared. The main body lay above the horizon in the form of a regular arch, the higheſt part of which might be about 9 or 10 degrees above it, and directly under the Pole-Star.----The arch ſubtended about 120 degrees of the horizon, and was moſtly of a pale hue; from which as a ground work, there would frequently dart forth in quick ſucceſſion, brighter gleams of light, reſembling pillars of ſmoke, in forms of pyramids, to the height of about 25 degrees above the horizon.

But what was moſt extraordinary attending the general Phænomenon, was a very conſpicuous and conſtant corruſcation, or flaſhing of light from the foremention'd arch, which by an undulatory motion would ſpread promiſcuouſly through all parts of the appearance, like flaſhes of lightning from clouds; but no noiſe was heard from it.---The luſtre was ſo great in ſome parts, that the two Pointers in the conſtellation of the Great Bear were almoſt rendered inviſible, which otherwiſe would have been very conſpicuous, as the ſky was very ſerene during the whole.---- The wind at due North.

NEW-YORK, JUNE 11.

By letters from New-Orleans, received yeſterday by Captain Offut, from Penſacola, we hear that French veſſels are not ſuffered there, and obliged to return with their cargoes unſold. Alſo, that the French inhabitants of Louiſiana, are ſo diſguſted at the tyranny they groan under, that moſt of them will ſoon quit that province.

JUNE 22. Laſt week two companies of the Royal Regiment of Artillery, under the command of Colonel James, marched from this city, to encamp on Hempſtead Plains for the ſummer ſeaſon.

The Honourable Joſeph Wanton, Eſq; Governor of Rhode-Iſland, has iſſued a proclamation, offering a reward of One Hundred pounds ſterling, for diſcovering the perſons concerned in deſtroying his Majeſty's armed ſchooner the Gaſpee.

JULY 13. A ſnow from Liverpool arrived at Barbados laſt May, the Captain of which, being a man of veracity, reported, that about 62 leagues E. by S. from that iſland, he diſcovered a flat curled rock, a little above the ſurface of the water; that he hoiſted out his boat, went cloſe to it, but could find no bottom with a line of 90 fathom.

We hear from Cockſoky, in Albany county, that on Friday the 3d inſtant, there fell at that place, a moſt terrible ſhower of hail, ſome of it being near the ſize of geeſe eggs. The damage done by it is ſo great, that it is ſaid whole fields of graſs and corn are deſtroyed, and many farmers will have no harveſt this ſeaſon: Several calves, ſheep and hogs, were killed, and two negroes, who happened to be out in the ſtorm, were very much hurt.

ALBANY, JUNE 22.

We hear that Sir William Johnſon, has, after ſeveral meetings with the deputies from the Miſſiſagues, who came to him on account of the murder of their people, at length obtained their ſtrongeſt aſſurances, that they would not attempt to retaliate on any of his Majeſty's ſubjects, and that they appeared thoroughly ſatisfied; whereupon he diſmiſſed them with very handſome preſents, and belts, &c. to the Chiefs of that nation.

Extract of a letter from a Gentleman in Orange county to his friend.

"I have nothing more to add, but that Mr. ..... ran away on Saturday, married on Sunday, went to goal on Monday, was tried on Tueſday, and cleared on Wedneſday laſt.-----Sudden changes indeed, and a variety of them."

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 25.

The General Aſſembly of New-Jerſey, are to meet at Perth-Amboy on Wedneſday, the 19th of Auguſt next.

Laſt week Captain Hammond arrived here from the coaſt of Africa, but laſt from Nevis, who informs, that he left Seraloon about three months ago, where he heard there had been a very ſickly time up the river Gambia, and that Governor De Byll, and all the traders at James's fort, on that river, were dead, and that the doctor was the only white man living belonging to the fort. He alſo informs, that a few days before he ſailed, Captain Savery, in a Brig belonging to London, trading at Camaranco, having got about ſixty-five ſlaves on board, they roſe upon the white people, killed the Captain, Mate, and all the crew, except a boy; and that the veſſel was afterwards re-taken by one Mr. Cleveland, a trader, who recovered about twenty of the ſlaves, and intended to ſend the Brig home, for the benefit of the inſurers.

JULY 9. Since our laſt ſeveral neighbouring people have died, by inadvertently drinking water directly from the pump, while they were very warm.

Extract of a Letter from Jamaica.

"St. Lucee, (Jamaica) June 7, 1772.----We have had ſuch a deluge this week, that barrels of proviſions, and firkins of butter, with many other articles, were waſhed out of Lopez's and S. James's ſtores; it waſhed away one pillar of the wharfinger's houſe, and ſunk the middle of the ſtore-houſe roof. The ſtreet of Lucee was above three feet under water, which obliged (as I am informed) Edward Watkins, and ſome others of the inhabitants, to ſtand on their tables."

By Captain Gilbert, from St. Vincent, we learn, that on the 29th of May, his Excellency William L. Leybourne, Eſq; Captain General and Governor in Chief of the Southern Caribbee Iſlands of Grenada, the Grenadines, St. Vincent, and Tobago, arrived there from Grenada; on his arrival he was waited upon by a Committee of the Hon. the Council and Aſſembly, appointed for that purpoſe, and received on his landing by his Majeſty's troops in garriſon there, alſo by the Southern company of troop, and Southern regiment of foot militia, when he was ſaluted by the guns from the different batteries. And on the 30th his Ex-

Charles-Town, July 14, 1772.

THE Subscriber is much obliged to his planting Friends, who, by landing their Crops at his Wharf for three Years past, have thereby introduced it to Business.---- He acted as Factor during that Time, purely to prevent his Friends being Sufferers by their intended Kindness to him, as it was very industriously insinuated, that Rice would not sell at his Wharf: But as he is now well convinced, and flatters himself all his Friends are fully so too, that their Crops landed in large or small Parcels, will sell altogether as well at his Wharf, as at any other in Charles-Town; and that any Gentlemen, principally concerned in the Factorage Way, will now have no Objection to receive and sell Rice or Indico landed thereat: He therefore chooses to decline that Business, finding it more than he is able to go through. He hopes his good Friends will still land their Crops at his Wharf, where they may depend he shall take Care KINDLY that their Boats have all possible Dispatch.

As to the Safety and Conveniency of his Docks and Stores, he is sure there are none preferable to them in Town in those Respects, and few (if any) Barns in the Country are cooler and more secure from Fire; and 'tis almost impossible for a Barrel of Rice to be lost or stolen in Landing or Shipping at his Wharf. Such Gentlemen as use his Wharf constantly, may depend on never wanting Storage whenever they do not like the going Price.----No prudent Planter but must be convinced, that this is a Matter of the utmost Consequence to him, as many, for these three Years past, have had their Crops (when landed in Town) disposed of very much against their own Inclinations and Judgments, meraly for Want of Storage; and this he is sure has been the Case, particularly this Year several Times, notwithstanding the Shortness of the Crop.

Messrs. GIBBES & HORT,

Who have had long Experience in the FACTORAGE BUSINESS in all its Branches, and confine themselves to that only, have taken the Charge of his Scales, and will transact their Business on his Wharf.---To these Gentlemen he begs Leave to recommend such of his Friends who are not otherwise engaged.

Christopher Gadsden.

N. B. Any Gentlemen in Trade may depend on not wanting STORAGE for such Parcels of Rice as they purchase at his Wharf.

Extract of a Letter from Baltimore County, in Maryland, dated July 1, 1772.

"In our neighbourhood, at Mr. Paca's Quarter, on Deer Creek, a cow lately brought forth a calf with a head repreſenting that of the human ſpecies; differing principally in the ſituation of the eyes and ears, the latter being on the neck, and the former on each ſide of the head where the ears ought to have been."

WILLIAMSBURG, (Virginia) JUNE 11.

Wedneſday ſe'nnight, in a gale of wind, and thick weather, a ſchooner from Philadelphia, John Kerr, Maſter, bound for Portſmouth, deeply laden, was drove aſhore at the mouth of Currituck Inlet, and beat to pieces. The people were ſaved, but chief of the cargo will be loſt.

JULY 2. The ſtorm of wind and hail which fell laſt Thurſday ſe'nnight, has ruined many fields of wheat, and greatly damaged the young corn, in ſeveral counties up James river, as well as in New Kent and Glouceſter; a number of houſes were likewiſe thrown down on ſeveral plantations, and windows broke to pieces by the hailſtones, which were remarkably large.

Frederickſburg, June 2. On Friday the 22d ultimo died, at his houſe in this place, after bearing the excruciating pains of the rheumatiſm for three months, with a fortitude and patience that does honour to human nature, Mr. Roger Dixon, a gentleman in whom the paſſions were ſo purely and delicately mixed, that, though ſubject to be ruffled, as in other men, they never in him produced any bad conſequences. "He bore anger as a flint bears fire;" and upon the leaſt ſhow of contrition, though ever ſo much injured, reſentment was no more. Revenge, envy, and malice, never once gained admiſſion into his heart, that ſeat of every ſocial virtue. He was a friend to all men, and univerſal benevolence and hoſpitality made every good man a friend to him; who will doubtleſs conſole with his diſconſolate family for the irreparable loſs of the fondeſt huſband, the tendereſt parent, and the kindeſt maſter.

An Anecdote of the Royal Libertine CHARLES II.

A PRIVATE yeoman of the guards refuſed the favours of the miſtreſs of a Prince. The lady, upon ſome diſguſt taken at her Royal Lover, fixed her eyes on this man, to gratify at once her looſe inclinations and her reſentment, and ſhe imagined ſhe had only to ſpeak her mind. The honeſt yeoman would not comprehend her meaning; he avoided all opportunities of converſation as much as poſſible; but when he found no ſtratagems could free him from her preſſing purſuits, he told her,---he was married.

The ſtory reached the King, with all its circumſtances; and it was expected the merry Monarch would laugh heartily at the fellow's fooliſh chaſtity: But, on the contrary, he ſent for him; and finding that he was a gentleman, though reduced to that humble ſtation, he gave him an appointment ſuitable to his birth, and candidly told him, that though he was not honeſt enough to be virtuous himſelf, he admired it in others."

CHARLES CROUCH,

Has received in the laſt Veſſels from LONDON,

A CONSIGNMENT

Of the ſeveral ARTICLES undermentioned, which may be had at his Printing-Office in Elliott-Street, on the moſt reaſonable Terms, viz.

A FRESH PARCEL of Dr. KEYSER's FAMOUS PILLS,

With FULL DIRECTIONS for their Uſe in all CASES.

Where may be ſeen, A NARRATIVE of the Effects of Dr. KEYSER's MEDICINE, with an Account of its ANALYSIS, by the Members of the Royal Academy of Sciences, ſhewing it to be the mildeſt, ſafeſt, and moſt efficacious Remedy ever yet diſcovered.

 It were needleſs to trouble the Public with more Encomiums on the Effects of this Remedy, in every State of a certain Diſorder; in the Courſe of ſeveral Years, great Numbers of Perſons, ſuffering in almoſt every Stage of that Malady, who, after ſteadily attending to the Directions given with each Box, have declared their Recovery to a perfect State of Health.

In England the Duke of Bedford and Earl Ligonier, and in France the Dukes of Nivernois, Choiſeul, Praſlin, and the Marſhal Duke of Biron, have given public Teſtimony of many ſucceſsful Experiments made by the firſt Phyſicians and Surgeons, upon the moſt miſerable Spectacles, in an Army of Two Hundred Thouſand Soldiers, from whom Seven Thouſand Patients were ſelected, cured and diſmiſſed. The Gentlemen of the Faculty in Europe, after the moſt convincing Proofs in Favour of the Medicine, greatly contributed to eſtabliſh the Reputation of Dr. KEYSER's PILLS, having pronounced the Uſe of them ſuperior in Efficacy to all the Modes of Practice hitherto diſcovered. They have perfectly reſtored to Health, Perſons afflicted with the Venereal Diſeaſe, Dropſical Diſorders, the Gravel, Palſy, Apoplexy, White-ſwellings, Stiff Joints, and the Aſthma.

Dr. NELSON's ANTISCORBUTIC DROPS, which have been found by many Years Experience, to ſurpaſs all other Remedies hitherto diſcovered in the Cure of the Scurvy, Rheumatiſm, Yaws, Venereal Diſeaſe, Gleets and Seminal Weakneſſes, Ulcers of all Kinds, &c.

ESSENCE of OIL of MINT. This is an excellent Remedy in Want of Appetite, reachings to vomit, and vomiting itſelf. It ſtrengthens the almoſt Paralytic Weakneſſes of the Stomach, and may be uſed either internally or externally; it is taken on a Lump of Sugar, from ten to twelve Drops.

Dr. RYAN's Incomparable WORM-DESTROYING SUGAR PLUMBS.

Dr. HILL's genuine TINCTURE of VALERIAN. This pleaſant Cordial and enlivening Medicine, is good againſt all Nervous Diſorders, Fits, Head-Achs, Weakneſs, Heavineſs, and Lowneſs of Spirits, Dimneſs of the Sight, Vapours and Melancholy, all Kinds of Convulſions, and Hyſteric Complaints, Epilepſies, as alſo againſt the Sickneſs of the Stomach, and Flatulencies, Obſtructions, and the Convulſive Aſthma, &c. The proper Uſe in all the above Caſes, may be ſeen in the Directions given with each Bottle.

Dr. BOERHAAVE's GRAND BALSAM of HEALTH. An admirable Remedy for the Dry Belly-Ach, Cholic, Griping in the Bowels, Pain in the Stomach; it cleanſes the Stomach, and procures an Appetite.

ESSENCE of BALM of GILEAD, a grand Reſtorative of decayed Nature, good in all Seminal Weakneſſes, Hypochondriacal and Nervous Diſorders, with the Variety of Symptoms which indicate a weak and infirm Conſtitution.

Its cordial and balmy Quality, renders it alſo an agreeable palatable Liquor, and prodigiouſly refreſhing in the ſultry Heat of Summer; preventing thoſe Sinkings which over-power the Spirits in hot Weather. The proper Uſe of this noble Medicine may be ſeen in the Directions.

STOMACHIC LOZENGES. They ſtrengthen and fortify by their balſamic and nutritive Virtues, the tender Veſſels of the Stomach, help Digeſtion, and promote Chylification; they melt in the Mouth like Sugar, are of a moſt agreeable taſte, and fail not to correct the Breath, and the impure Exhalations of the Stomach.

Where alſo may be had,

JOYCE's GREAT AMERICAN BALSAM, extracted from the beſt Medicinal Herbs, &c. for the Cure of the following Diſorders, incident to human Nature; proved from Experience in New-York, Long-Iſland, and elſewhere, to equal, and rather exceed any Balſam, Eſſence, or Elixir, &c. exported from Europe here, for the ſeveral Diſorders hereafter mentioned.

For common green or freſh Wounds, it heals at once or twice dreſſing, by cloſing the Lips of the Wound, and laying on the Wound a Pledgit of Lint dipt in the Balſam. In Nervous Wounds, where the Blood Veſſels are divided, &c. it ſtops the Blood immediately, and heals by a few Applications. For the Cure of the moſt inveterate Ulcers, only waſh them and keep them clean, uſing firſt if there be any proud Fleſh, a common Cauſtick, to take the Excreſſence away, then apply the Balſam on Lint. If the Ulcers ſhould happen to be fiſtulous, inject by a Syringe, and after cloſe the Orifice with a Pledgit dipt in the Balſam, and ſo repeat. There are Witneſſes undeniable of the Balſam alone curing a Fiſtula in Ano, now preſent in New-York: The Author of this Balſam, (under God) will engage to cure a Fiſtula in Ano, even if the Rectum is perforated, without Inciſion, except as much by a Lancet to make Way for Injection, and no more. For the Cure of Colds, attended with violent Coughing, Pains in the Breaſt, Inflammation in the Throat and Glands, Difficulty of Breathing, being obſtructed by tough viſcid Phleghm; by taking a Tea Spoonful of the Balſam, mixed with Sugar or Honey, it quickly cures, taken twice a Day, Morning faſting, and at Night going to Bed. It is exceeding good in all Manner of Swellings; for violent Falls or inward Bruiſes, nothing is better, for it ſcatters coadgulated Blood, and ſtops Blood that might be occaſioned by the inward Parts being hurt, or a Rexis of Veſſels inwardly. In the Cure of Pleuriſy, after Bleeding (where it is required) give a Tea Spoonful three Times a Day, in Sugar, and between Times now and then 20 or 30 Drops of ſpirituous Nitri dulcis, that is the Sweet Spirits of Nitre.---It cures Conſumptions in them that are not too far gone, except they paſs the Age of Fifty, by taking of it inwardly three Times a Day, a full Tea Spoonful mixt with Sugar or Honey, each Doſe. It ſtrengthens the Nerves, and is good in all Nervous Diſorders, by taking of it inwardly, and anointing the Parts outwardly, keeping warm.

THE AGUE TINCTURE.

The Patient muſt take a Table Spoonful of the ELIXIR, two Hours before the Approach of the Fit, and be immediatly put to Bed, and excited to ſweat, by being very warmly covered. Every Half Hour repeat the Doſe in the ſame Quantity, until he or ſhe has taken Four; you are to obſerve the giving it with a little Sugar, to make it palatable, and to let the laſt Doſe be given juſt as the Fit comes on; this will infallibly perform the Cure.

The GOLDEN TINCTURE,

Infallibly cures the Hyſterick Convulſions, let them be ever ſo violent or long ſtanding: It cures Children who are ſeized with Convulſions, when all other Remedies fail: It cures Perſons who, from a Cold, or the Relique of a Pleuriſy, may have a Pain in the Breaſt: It cures all Epilepſies and Convulſions in a few Hours, ſo as not to apprehend a Return.

For Adults, the Doſe is 80 Drops in a Spoonful of Tea, or Water, to be repeated every three Hours, until the Fit is gone.

For thoſe of Ten Years of Age, or thereabouts, who may be afflicted with Fits, give 20 Drops, in a Tea Spoonful of Water, and proceed as above.

To Children of a Month or younger, you may, with all Safety, give 5 Drops in a Tea Spoonful of Water, and repeat as before, which you may (under GOD) depend on a ſpeedy and ſafe Cure.
